believes that a single word uttered by him was a result of his independent thinking."

While Rockefeller was soliciting votes at the Capitol, Johnson said, Rockefeller had to have the state Education Building pointed out to him.

"This man who knows so little about government took the liberty to advise members of the state treasurer's and the secretary of state's offices that if they were doing a good job, he, as governor, would retain them on the state payroll.

"There's not a school child in Arkansas that doesn't know that these offices are independent of the governor's office."

Attacking the Rockefeller family wealth, Johnson asked: "Can this jet-set playboy who has never been faced with the hardships of life realize the problems we daily encounter? Does he know what it is to worry about meeting his house payment, his car payment, the cost of groceries, the cost of medicine and doctor bills?"

"I tell you tonight that it's the hard knocks of life that tempers the steel which makes the man. Jim Johnson understands these problems because I have suffered and endured them."

Johnson said Arkansas must have leadership "by men dedicated to principles, men with credentials of courage, and men with a forceful purpose."

"I don't believe the people of Arkansas will turn the government of this great state over to the deviates, whether they be political or otherwise," Johnson said.

Johnson promised to have the youngest administration in the state's history, to give women a bigger role in government, increase welfare payments to the elderly, give teacher pay increases and adhere to a policy of preserving local self government, including opposition to forced consolidation of the state's smaller school districts.

"Contrary to rumors spread in this campaign," Johnson said, "Arkansas will not lose federal aid merely because we voice our objection to dictatorial policies and air our grievances in the arena of public debate."

"The mere fact that Arkansas chooses to exert its sovereignty as an equal partner in a union of fifty states is no ground for fears that we will lose our proportionate share of federal aid projects," he said.

"Economic blackmail now practiced by some federal agencies does not have legislative or constitutional sanction," Johnson said.

"We have a mandate from the people to resist the imposition in every constitutional manner of harsh and illegal guidelines from federal agencies which go beyond the spirit nurse, who lives alone in an apartment, to be out at night by herself.

When Mrs. Hochhauser arrived back at her own home about midnight, she was attacked, police said.

Mrs. Hochhauser was raped and strangled with a cord from her bathrobe, which she had worn to the hospital, officials said. The body was discovered by her husband, Dr. Carl J. Hochhauser, who had gone to bed about 11 p.m. and did not know his wife was missing until he awoke Wednesday morning.

Firemen will join police in street-by-street visits, advising housewives in methods of self-protection and how to summon help when needed, Safety Director Henry Sandman said.

Like Mrs. Hochhauser, the other three victims of the strangler were in their 50s.

In addition to investigating the four stranglings, police are still seeking clues in the murders of Jerry Bricca, 28, his wife, Linda Jane, 24, and their daughter, Debbie, 4.

They were stabbed repeatedly and Mrs. Bricca was raped, in their suburban home. Their bodies were found Sept. 27. Bricca was a chemical engineer.

Speed was cited by Milton Mosier, Arkansas State Policeman as being the main cause of accidents. Captain Mosier encouraged traffic education and told of a special trailer that is equipped and available for teaching driving education.

Safety fashions were created by club representatives and modeled in a style show of "Hats Off To Safety." Mrs. Cecil Smith described the hats that depicted an awareness of safety rules and precautions. Those participating were Mrs. Letha Lawson, Mrs. Azell Patterson, Mrs. William Alton, Mrs. Pierce Brown, Mrs. Earl Thompson, Mrs. Susan Adams, Mrs. Jimmie Griffin, Mrs. George Hooten, Mrs. Floyd Young, Sr., Mrs. T. L. Smith, Mrs. Earl Dudley, Mrs. Henry Dillard, Mrs. Avery McKinney, Mrs. Walter White, Mrs. Vernor McMurtrey, Mrs. E. J. Warnken, Mrs. Johnnie Hendrix, Mrs. Sherman Johnson, and Mrs. James Ellis.

Mrs. Lyle Allen related the safety signals to spiritual living in the devotional. Mrs. Allen presented a special meditation in memory of a deceased member, Mrs. Bert Moody.

Recreation included group singing led by Mrs. Ernest Graham accompanied by Mrs. Neil Osburn.

Stretchers were led by Mrs. Walter White.

Mrs. Vernor McMurtrey, president presided, assisted by Mrs. R. L. Dillard, secretary-treasurer. Mrs. McMurtrey reported on attending the state board meeting October 6-7.

Columbus Club members, Mrs. Buster Gilbert, Mrs. Earl Thompson, and Mrs. W. C. Thompson were in charge of registration. Mrs. O. B. Hodnett and Mrs. Marion Hubbard were lunch chairmen. Mrs. Roscoe Bowden gave the noon prayer.

Door prizes were won by Mrs. L. J. Hampton and Mrs. B. J. Warnken.

ASCS Group Hears Mr. Davis

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Dr. Lawrence A. Davis, president of Arkansas AM&N College at Pine Bluff, spoke on public relations Wednesday at a training conference for county employees of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service.

The three-day meeting, which ends Friday, is on improved management and public relations. About 200 persons are attending the conference.

Clyde Payne of Jasper, Fla., secretary-treasurer of the national association of ASCS county employees, spoke on management.

Defense Chief
Inspects Area
Bombs Hit

By ROBERT TUCKMAN
SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. B52 bombers pounded the demilitarized zone again today and a few hours later Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara flew along the southern edge of the zone, inspecting the rugged Marine battlefield and taking a look at North Viet Nam.

On the fighting fronts, only small ground actions were reported, but U.S. airmen gave North Viet Nam no respite from destructive bombing. Three American planes were reported shot down, one in the north and two in the south.

The last 2,000 of South Korea's White Horse Division arrived in South Viet Nam to swell the Korean force to 45,000 men, the second largest of the six foreign contingents fighting alongside the South Vietnamese.

A record number of captives in Operation Irving pushed enemy losses last week to 2,129 killed or captured—compared with 1,342 the week before—while allied combat dead or missing increased by a third to 314, the allied commands reported. The U.S. Command said 91 Americans were killed, 604 were wounded and 17 were missing, compared with 99 dead, 642 wounded and 12 missing the week before.

McNamara wound up his four-day visit to Viet Nam with a helicopter and plane tour of several battle sectors after spending the night on the 7th Fleet carrier Oriskany.

The Pentagon chief flew for 50 minutes just south of the demilitarized zone where for more than two months U.S. Marines have fought to stem the infiltration of North Vietnamese army regulars into the south.

McNamara returns tonight to Washington.

Only a few hours before the secretary viewed the demilitarized zone from his helicopter, B52s flew in from Guam to bomb the much-battered buffer area separating North and South Viet Nam.

The eight-engine bombers, making their 15th raid on the demilitarized zone since July 30, unloaded tons of explosives on North Vietnamese troop concentrations, bivouac and storage areas in the southern half of the six-mile-wide zone, the U.S. Command said.

The plane lost over the north was a Navy A4 Skyhawk from the carrier Oriskany. It was the 398th plane reported lost over North Viet Nam.

The U.S. Command reported the loss of two F100 Supersabers over South Viet Nam Wednesday both shot down by Viet Cong groundfire. Both pilots were rescued unhurt.

McNamara watched Wednesday night as pilots from the Oriskany took off to raid targets in North Viet Nam. Later, it was announced one of the Navy pilots failed to return.

McNamara told the Oriskany's officers: "As secretary of defense, I am very proud of your performance. As a citizen, I am very grateful to you."

Early today he flew from the carrier, about 100 miles off North Viet Nam, to forward Marine headquarters at Dong Ha, about 15 miles south of the demilitarized zone.

Bonds Approved at McGehee

MCGEHEE, Ark. (AP)—Voters here approved Tuesday a $150,000 bond issue to help finance construction of a plant for a foundry, with the Amendment 4 bonds to be repaid by rent from the company, McGehee Foundry Inc. The issue passed 389-11.

Army Buries
War Victim
With No Kin

By BOB HORTON
WASHINGTON (AP) — For nine days the Army sought to locate any relatives of Spec. 4 John F. Barzan. Failing, it buried him last Friday, the first American victim of the Viet Nam war for whom no next of kin could be found.

The New York native, 40, was buried with simple military honors in the Long Island, N.Y., National Cemetery after the Army made what was described as an "administrative decision" on the rare case.

His mother, the only relative named in Barzan's service file, was last known to be in New York.

"We assumed that she would want him buried there, so we decided on the Long Island National Cemetery," a spokesman said.

If relatives come forward and want the remains interred elsewhere, the spokesman said, the government will arrange it. Barzan, a bachelor, died of heat prostration Sept. 25 while on a work detail of his unit, the 117th Transport Company, near Cap Lai, South Viet Nam.

In its routine process of notifying next of kin of the dead, the Army sent a personal representative to the only address given for his mother, Margaret D. Barzan of 2461 Amsterdam Ave., N.Y.

She had moved in 1958, leaving no forwarding address.

The Army turned to its master enlistment files at Ft. Benjamin Harrison, Ind., and came up with an address of 320 28th Ave., Astoria, N.Y.

This, too, proved negative. All of Barzan's personal belongings, including letters, were searched in a vain attempt to locate relatives or perhaps friends who could be of help.

On Oct. 4 the search was dropped. Barzan's remains were flown to Dover Air Force Base, Del., the eastern arrival point for bodies of military men. On Oct. 7, the remains were shipped to the national cemetery.

Charges China
Prevented
End to War

MOSCOW (AP) — Premier Alexei N. Kosygin angrily charged today that Red China has prevented world communism from putting "a quick end" to U.S. military actions in Viet Nam.

He spoke at a Soviet-Polish friendship meeting in Sverdlovsk, in the Urals.

"Had American imperialism encountered the joint rebuff of all countries of socialism, their united policy, then it is doubtful that a quick end would have been put to its outrages in Viet Nam and the aggression would be cut short," he said.

"China's position has become a serious obstacle in the struggle for this sacred cause."

Kosygin was quoted by the official Soviet news agency Tass as saying Moscow was providing Hanoi with "considerable additional assistance" to meet "the needs created by the new phase of the American aggression."

"Military personnel for the armed forces of North Viet Nam are being trained in the Soviet Union," he said.

Kosygin made the speech during a visit to the Soviet Union by Polish Communist party leader Wladyslaw Gomułka and other Polish officials for talks on Viet Nam and Red China.

Kosygin accused Peking of rendering "a big service to American imperialists, to all the enemies of socialism, to the enemies of peace and progress."

Summarizing part of Kosygin's speech, Tass reported:

"The Soviet prime minister said the events in China associated with the so-called 'great cultural revolution' and other recent developments indicated that the Chinese leaders were proceeding further and further along the road of division, and were causing serious damage by their policy to the struggle for socialism, for the freedom of the peoples, to the cause of peace and international security."

Disputes Surplus
Fund Authority

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—A. W. Ford, state education commissioner, disputed Wednesday reports that the state Board of Education could distribute a surplus in the public school fund without specific legislation.

He said he doubted that the board would give serious consideration to a suggestion that it allocate $2.7 in surplus funds for teachers salary increases. The state Education Department wouldn't recommend it, Ford said.

He had conferred with a member of the board and two of the department's fiscal experts, and all agreed that the board lacked authority to distribute the funds, Ford said.

HOOKED ON PIZZA

Dear Helen: My boyfriend is forever eating. That's all he thinks about when he takes me on a date. Example: One day I went shopping with him. He suggested a pizza for lunch. I had two small slices and watched him gulp down the rest of the pie.

A few blacks farther on, we passed another pizza place. I could have fainted when he wanted to go in and have another one.

Every time he sees a place to eat, he wants to. I like him, but (though he's tall and still fairly slim) I'm afraid I'll soon be dating a blimp. How can I get it across there's more to life than pizza pie?—D.J.S.

Dear Dis: Call him your "lean tower of pizza" and try to understand there comes a time in most every boy's life when the main thing on his mind is his stomach. Don't worry — you're second on the list. —H.

P.S. But teach him to count calories, just in case.

Dear Helen: Today I was caught shop lifting. I took just enough

Television and Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY AP TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Lucille Ball, the television star and corporation president has a new enthusiasm — travel.

"In fact," said the red-haired actress, "if this should be my last year in the series, what I'd really like to do next is a few specials a year, made in various places all over the world, that showed them through my eyes."

The idea has been running through her mind for some time but it all fell together last May when she went to England and shot "Lucy in London" in 10 days.

The comedienne is spending a week in New York, drumming up interest in her special, to be seen on CBS Oct. 24, but also looking at the East's brilliant foliage, taking in a few Broadway shows and, doubtless, talking Desilu business with network heads.

"I always like to go some place special in May, just as I like to come to New York now," she said. "First I thought it would be fun to make a show in Paris, but we couldn't get Zero Mostel and another star we wanted for it. So I said let's go to England and do something there instead."

What the "something" finally amounted to is a day in London — "and it covers all the things I'd want to do there myself as a tourist, and believe me, there's a lot of Lucille Ball in Lucy Carmichael."

She appeared genuinely unconcerned that a new series, "Rat Patrol," which is part of her own series' Monday night competition, had outpointed "The Lucy Show" in the new Nielsen ratings.

"Good luck to them," she said. "I've had 15 good years in television and surely there's room for plenty of shows. I hope they do well — as long as my shows stays in the top 100, which it did."

to show I wasn't afraid, and I was one of the gang. Well, I found out how stupid it is to "prove yourself" that way.

As a minor, I wasn't arrested, but my father was called from his job to take me home. He is a good man. He has always been very proud of his children, but today he was crushed. I can't face him. I feel so low that I would run away, but I know that would hurt him more. My family trusted me, and I let them down, just to show off.

Helen, please print this letter. I know a lot of kids steal from stores just for kicks. But anyone thinking about it should think what it will do to his family. Believe me, there's no worse feeling than looking into your parents' faces as they ask, "Why?" — HATES MYSELF

Dear H.M.: You won't believe me now, but later on you'll know this was the luckiest day of your life: you got caught before you got hooked on the hoods. —H.

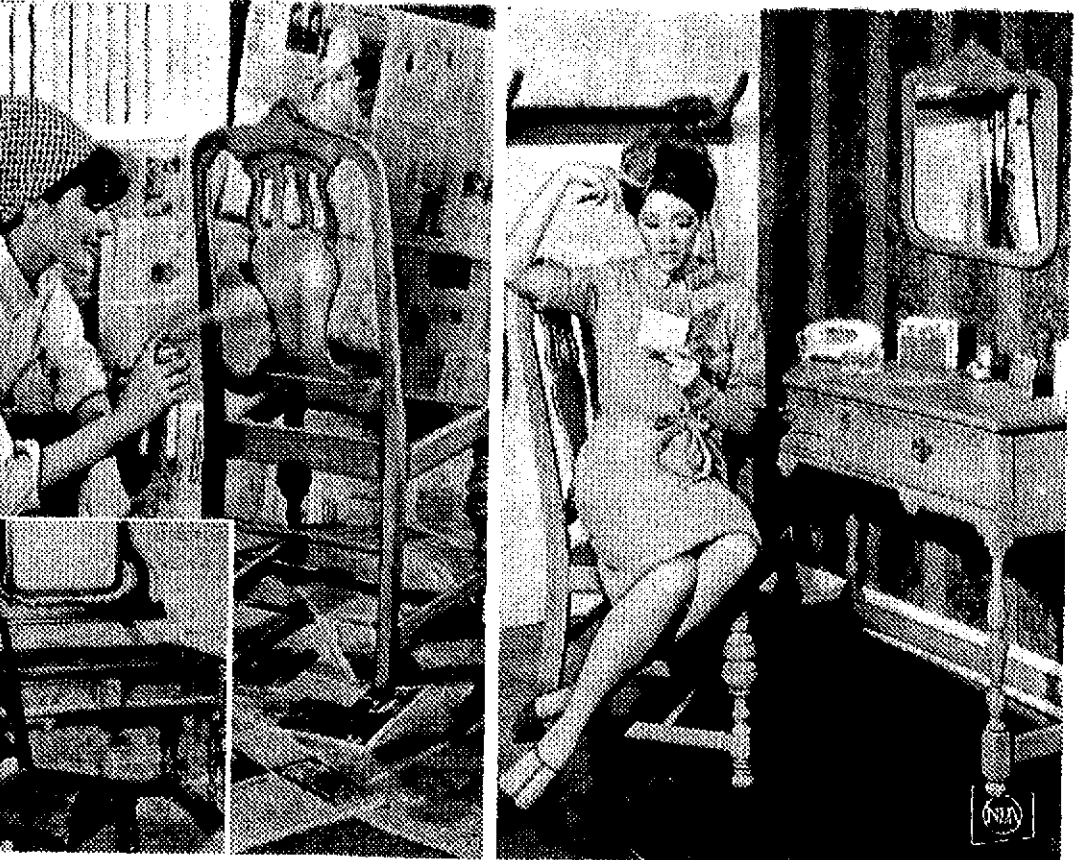

Dear Helen: I'm in the seventh grade and I'm trying to figure out why we kids have to call adults "Mr., Mrs." and "Miss" when it's their faults the world is in such a mess. They are the ones that ought to respect us since we will be the ones to get them out of the mess they made. PUZZLED

Dear Miss Puzzled: As our son says when I pan a TV show, "Everybody's a critic!" Ah, so. You won't appreciate the following, but after my daily dose of "What's the older generation coming to?" letters from teens, well it's a fine antidote...

OPEN LETTER TO JUVENILE ADULT-HATERS: All a time you kids wring your hands and tear your hair about how we "ancient ones" have loused things up. Don't just stand there squeezing crocodile tears out of your bangs. Do something! Organize home for un-hinged mothers, parent guidance clinics, adult-age canteens, correctional shelters for fathers. Don't you KNOW there's no such thing as a bad parent—he's just misguided.

Homemaking

By AILEEN SNOODY Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

NEW YORK — (NEA)—Walking into a furniture store and selecting suites of furniture for a new home is "instant decorating" for many newly married couples. In most cases, it also is "instant debt."

With decorating trends, though, there is no reason why a young couple cannot have something old, something new—just as the bride did when she marched to the altar.

The new, of course, represents certain essential pieces often selected in the period style, such as French provincial, the young couple wants to live with. The old fills in until the budget allows new purchases.

Scrounging for attic cast-offs and battered furniture from the second-hand and junk shops is fun. Many couples find it more profitable decoratively than they ever dreamed such buying could be.

Odds-and-ends furniture, often from the '20s and '30s, are the making of interesting "one-of-a-kind" pieces. Proper refinishing of such finds is the key to their successful use in any room.

Fortunately, painted furniture a la French or American colonial is near the top of the sophisticated decorator's list. So antiquing kits are blossoming.

When selecting furniture to be refinished, always check it for sturdiness and consider what its end use will be. Measure old desks, tables, mirrors or corner cabinets to see that they won't overwhelm the room.

To save time when refinishing an inexpensive find, select an antiquing spray kit that requires little more than surface cleaning to remove traces of wax, grease and dirt. Light sanding removes all rough spots. Spray on a coat and let it dry for 24 hours. Don't rush the drying for best results.

warped" (or three or four). We didn't develop into crazy mixed-up adults just for kicks, you know. It was all because our children didn't understand us. They made us stay home at night when we were old enough to go out and have fun. They bullied, ignored, bossed, criticized...nothing we saw, nag, or "what do YOU know about life, you're just a parent?"

So how could we help going bad? We're the products of our environment. We're a generation of adult delinquents because our kids were so busy saving the world they blamed us for they didn't give us a chance. Pity us, don't hate us. HELP P.S. Sound familiar, kids? Only the age-group has been changed to get the author in trouble with teen readers. —H.

Business Boomed for Little While

BEAVERTON, Ore. (AP) — A youngster's business was nearly booming before police stepped in at an elementary school.

An anonymous caller told police recently there had been dynamite in the school.

The caller was right, and the dynamite was for sale.

Police picked up four teen-age boys who allegedly bought the dynamite and another youth who they said sold the explosive, which had been stored in his locker.

Police found 29 sticks of the explosive in the woods later and one stick in each boy's home.

Authorities said the dynamite was taken from a resident who used it for blasting stumps.

THE DOCTOR'S MAILBAG

If You're Pregnant, Watch
For Signs of Toxemia

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Q—My niece had toxemia of pregnancy and the doctor took the baby at seven months by Caesarean section. Is this always done? Is there any other treatment for this condition?

A—Toxemia or poisoning of pregnancy includes three related conditions—pernicious vomiting (not the ordinary morning sickness), pre-eclampsia and eclampsia. They are caused by the production of protein metabolism in increased quantity and the inability of the victim's liver to neutralize these poisonous waste products and of her kidneys to eliminate them. These poisons further damage the liver and kidneys, thus setting up a vicious cycle.

The early signs of toxemia are scanty urine, headache, swelling of the feet and blurred vision. When these signs are noted prompt treatment with bed rest and a diet low in protein is often followed by improvement. In more severe cases Epsom salts, drugs to lower the blood pressure and barbiturates are given. This treatment enables most women to carry the baby to full term but, even with the best of care, it may be necessary to terminate the pregnancy either by inducing labor or by Caesarean section.

Q—If a woman had diphtheria in childhood, could this cause her to be sterile?

A—Some other cause for her infertility should be sought—an obstruction of the uterine tubes or oviducts, endometriosis, a deficiency of thyroid, ovarian or pituitary hormone, abnormal secretions of the uterine cervix, fibroid tumors, tilting of the uterus or other local causes. Tests may have to be made to track down the true cause.

Q—How can I find out whether I have too much or too little calcium? What are the symptoms of a calcium deficiency? What would cause too much calcium in the system?

A—The normal range of blood calcium in adults is 8.5

to 10.5 milligrams. This can be maintained by a daily intake of 800 milligrams. A person may have a mild calcium deficiency for years without any symptoms but, if there is also a deficiency of parathyroid hormone, muscle spasms of the hands and general irritability may occur. With uncomplicated calcium deficiency there is danger of softening of the bones.

Too much calcium may occur when too much vitamin D is taken, when the parathyroids are overly active or when one has multiple myeloma.

Please send your questions and comments to Wayne G. Brandstadt, M.D., in care of this paper. While Dr. Brandstadt cannot answer individual letters he will answer letters of general interest in future columns.

21 Twice Compares 21

TWENTYONE TWICE By Mark Harris Little Brown $5.95

Harris is a writer who keeps a gossip journal somewhat more but logged with introverted traits on their way to becoming an autobiography.

His approach and style are paradoxical. As an introvert he has a saving sense of humor. He is a mental and ethical person, clenching his teeth in a hard, almost painful, but not an exhibitionist. He bares all his neurotic worries to the reader. We can't call him a narcissist because he sees his own private life as a public matter.

Born in the midst of an personal combat of his parents, are two episodes.

It all began when he was asked to write a non-literary book port on some seemingly odd happenings among the Peace Corps volunteers in a small African nation.

The first episode is about his security clearance in preparation for the temporary assignment. Harris dithers about the FBI investigation he had to undergo, but the reader will see that he had only himself to blame. As a young man he had flirted with some minor Communies, and when he was asked to explain his situation he came up with some rambling answers.

The second episode is his actual dash through this African nation, where as an individual he is a reporter and reports it in a forthright fashion. His intention is that some of the non-reporting Peace Corps volunteers have been accomplishing intrinsically better results than the famous followers.

When you hold the ten spot in addition to the ace and jack you can be sure of two tricks in the suit if you play your ace on the king or queen. In that situation when you hold up you aren't executing a Bath coup. You are doing the exact opposite, because you may be throwing away a trick.

South saw that he could be sure of two spade tricks if he simply put his ace of spades on the queen. Further thought showed that he would not be likely to make his contract if he did that. It looked to him as if West had opened fourth best from a five card suit headed by the king. This left East with the ace-queen of clubs and ace of diamonds for his opening club bid. South would lead a spade and West would hold back his king. The next time in West would collect three spade tricks.

Therefore South let East hold that first spade trick and ducked the second spade lead also. A third spade cleared up the suit for West but did him no good at all. He never was able to get in to take them.

After winning the spade and discarding a club from dummy South entered dummy by overtaking his queen of diamonds with the king. East held back his ace. Then South led the ten of clubs. East rose with the ace of that suit and returned a heart. South won in his hand and overtook his ten of diamonds with dummy's jack. This time East rose with the ace and led a second heart to dummy's ace. South cashed dummy's last two diamonds, discarding a club. Then he led another club toward his own hand and made his contract.

A—Bid six hearts. There is no reason to try for seven since if your partner held the ace of diamonds and good enough hearts to warrant a seven bid he would not have bid four hearts over your two spades.

Strange Boyle Should Know This About Left Handed Girls

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — Jumping to conclusions:
Most left-handed girls, when a fellow gets fresh with them, switch to their right hand when they slap his face. Don't ask me why.
Honest merit will never be fully recognized in this country until the dandelion is officially named as America's national flower. Anyone who doesn't admire this sturdy yellow demure of lawn and meadow is a floral snob, and deserves to have crabgrass grow in his front yard forever.

Case Ruling on Friday

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—After an 11-minute hearing, Judge Francis J. Talty said today he would rule at 11 a.m. Friday on a defense motion to move Samuel H. Sheppard's murder retrial out of Cleveland.
During the brief hearing which started late, F. Lee Bailey of Boston, Sheppard's chief counsel, introduced for evidence five scrapbooks of newspaper clippings and four issues of the Cleveland Press.
The scrapbooks covered the period from July 1964, when Sheppard's first wife, Marilyn, was killed, through December, when the former osteopath was convicted by a jury of second-degree murder.

The four newspapers were issues of Jan. 4, 5, 6 and 7 of this year.
Bailey said he offered his exhibits to show the exposure of this community to publicity which the U.S. Supreme Court ruled, in upholding a retrial for Sheppard, was prejudicial.
Prosecutor John T. Corrigan entered an objection that the exhibits should not be entered "until and unless there is some sworn testimony on the issue 'Can a fair trial be had'."

Judge Talty said Corrigan's arguments had substance. But he was receiving the exhibits for the record.
Sheppard was on hand early for the hearing which was scheduled at 9:15 a.m. but did not begin until 9:33 a.m. The small courtroom's last row of benches was empty and 13 newsmen filled assigned seats in the first row. There were a few newsmen in the almost-filled second row. There was not a woman in the courtroom.
Save for the Imperial woodpecker of Mexico, the ivory-bill was or is the largest woodpecker in the world. It grew about the size of a crow, and had a wingspan reaching 33 inches.

WHERE IS THE FROTH IN THE FALL?
MELBOURNE (AP) — For many years Australians addicted to milkshakes have been puzzled by what happens to the froth in autumn. In spring, summer and winter it is always present, a tantalizing taste of the enjoyment to follow, but in autumn it disappears.
Now, Australia's Commonwealth Scientific and Industrial Research Organization (CSIRO) has found the answer.
The CSIRO says in its annual report just released that lipase, an enzyme always present in milk, increases in concentration during autumn. This has a foaming action when milk is agitated or its temperature fluctuates.

NEW ITALIAN BELL ARRIVES
PERTH, Western Australia (AP) — A bronze bell for the Church of St. Lawrence the Martyr in Main Street, Turin Hill (a Perth suburb) has arrived from Italy in the liner Galileo Galilei.
It was accepted by Father Bonaventura, assistant priest of the church, and will be installed in time for a religious feast day toward the end of September.
The bell weighs about 250 lbs and was made in Castelfranco, Central Italy, at a factory which specializes in the manufacture of bells and whose craftsmen are among the best in the world.
It was carried from Italy to Fremantle, Perth's port, free of cost by Lloyd Triestino.

Traffic Safety Program Here

Large Group Hears About Traffic Safety

An attentive audience of homemakers listened with interest and concern to remarks of a traffic safety panel at the Extension Homemakers County Meeting October 12, held at the Experiment Station Hut.

Don Griscom, Safety Director State Farm Bureau, told of a Driver Improvement Program now available to bring adult drivers up-to-date on requirements of today's driving. The program is an eight hour course taught by thirty-four trained instructors and includes a study and analysis of accident situations and principles of defensive driving. The cost of the course is $3 and could be made available locally if there were sufficient interest.

George Frazier, Roy Anderson Insurance Agency, told of the rapid growth of accidents and discussed the human and economic losses resulting from traffic accidents. He gave traffic as the number one social problem.

Alvin Willis, Chief of Police, quoted the accident statistics for the county and city. He stated failure to yield right-of-way as the main cause of accidents and encouraged removing blind of the highway.

Fred O. Ellis, Jr., talked of the relationship of the youth to traffic. Fred told of the safety educational programs in the school to make students more safety conscious. He said "Safe-

Sick, Tired of Highway Cleanup Talk

LITTLE ROCK (AP)— Highway Commission Chairman Wayne Hampton said Wednesday he was "sick of Jim Johnson playing the same old record that he will clean out the Highway Department."

If the Democratic nominee for governor "has information about wrongdoing, he should reveal it. I'll call a special meeting of the commission if he has anything to produce," Hampton said.

"We don't have anything to hide," he said. "I can't say that plainer." When Republicans criticized certain road projects they said helped influential Democrats, Hampton defended the commission and department.

Morrilton to Expand Plant

MORRILTON, Ark. (AP)— Crompton-Arkansas Mills, Inc., announced Wednesday it would create 172 new jobs through a $4 million expansion of its plant here.

The 18-year-old plant has 640 employees in its 270,000-foot square foot facility. It makes unfinished corduroy, which it ships to affiliated plants at Osceola and in Virginia for finishing.

Johnson in Praise of All But GOP

By JOHN R. STARR
Associated Press Writer
LITTLE ROCK (AP)— Gov. Orval Faubus said today that Jim Johnson had personally asked for his support and that he stood ready to help Johnson against Republican Winthrop Rockefeller in the governor's race.

FORT SMITH, Ark. (AP)— Jim Johnson blasted off his campaign Wednesday night and had something good for everybody except his Republican opponent and Democrats who aren't going to vote Democratic in the governor's race.

His headquarters had said the Fort Smith speech would be the starting point for intensified campaigning, and some of Johnson's remarks forecast a no-holds-barred approach in his fight with Republican Winthrop Rockefeller.

The speech will be telecast over several stations tonight. Johnson had some type of promise for several groups—youths, women, the elderly, school teachers and others.

A crowd of about 900 interrupted his speech with applause 17 times, with special vigor for the Rockefeller barbs.

He also said he had "no fear of the political health of the Arkansas Democratic Party," and said the party was strong and vigorous enough "to greet with open arms those Republicans who have been dispossessed by their own party by this New York interloper."

He said that, lest there be some misunderstanding, "I expect and welcome the help of all Democrats in Arkansas. My personal invitation (for support and help) has been extended to Gov. (Orval) Faubus" and other Democratic officeholders.

"These few holdouts are the same type of leeches that would prolong the no-win war in Viet Nam in order to make a profit at the expense of the blood of our boys," Johnson said.

Part of Johnson's attack on Rockefeller was reminiscent of Faubus' "rich man vs. poor boy" tactics of the 1964 general election campaign, and other parts centered on Johnson's contention that Rockefeller leaned heavily on others.

"I won't need to appoint a committee of New York experts, or hire a special study group from some eastern college to do my thinking for me or tell me the difference between right and wrong," Johnson said.

Taking note of Rockefeller's 10-year education plan revealed Tuesday, Johnson asked:

"Is there one among you who

Paper Mill for Deridder, La.

WEST MEMPHIS, Ark. (AP)— Boise-Cascade Corp. plans to build a $65 million pulp and paper mill on 1,900 acres near Deridder, La., the firm announced Wednesday.

The sales manager of the container division of Boise Cascade of West Memphis, Alvin J. Weeks, said part of the production of the Louisiana plant will go to the $3.5 million paper box plant here, which is scheduled to start production by Dec. 1.

Weeks said the Louisiana plant is scheduled to be in production in 1969.

Rape-Stranger Strikes Again in Cincinnati, Big Manhunt Begins

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)— The most massive manhunt in the city's history is under way as authorities seek a rapist-strangler who struck Wednesday for the fourth time in 10 months.

In addition, this city of half-a-million persons is concerned about six other unsolved slayings — including the murders three weeks ago of a suburban couple and their small daughter.

City Manager William C. Wichman ordered Wednesday unlimited overtime on an emergency basis for the city's 950 policemen. He also pressed firemen into police duty.

The latest victim was Mrs. Alice Hochhauser, 51, wife of a surgeon and mother of nine children. Her body was found in the Hochhauser garage.

Police said Mrs. Hochhauser had gone to Good Samaritan Hospital Tuesday night to drive her daughter, Elizabeth, 22, home after she got off work. Mrs. Hochhauser had said she was afraid for her daughter, a

$25 Million for Red River Basin Work

WASHINGTON (AP)— The compromise public works appropriation bill which the Senate sent to President Johnson Wednesday included about $25 million for work on Red River basin projects in Texas, Arkansas, Oklahoma and Louisiana.

The money, for construction, planning, studies and operation and maintenance of individual water projects in the region, is about $3.7 million more than President Johnson recommended.

Amounts agreed upon for the projects:

SS Office Open Late Thursdays

The Texarkana Social Security office will be open for public business every Thursday until 8:45 p.m., Otis A. Blackwood, District Manager announced today.

Mr. Blackwood said that the office hours extended on Thursday have been to help people who are still working full time, or for other reasons cannot get to the office during normal office hours, to come in during the evening hours. Blackwood stated that this will be a permanent arrangement, at least until the end of this year. If public use and continued need for extended office hours are indicated, the Thursday office hours of 8:00 a.m. until 8:45 p.m. will be continued indefinitely.

The Texarkana district office is located at 121 College Drive, and the phone numbers are 792-2735 and 792-6271.

It was immediately taken over by the Bank of the Commonwealth, which issued a statement saying all deposits were safe.

The demise of the institution, certified at a secret court session after midnight Wednesday, surprised the 3,000 stockholders, and President James H. McGuire alike.

Michigan Banking Commissioner Charles D. Slay said the bank "simply owed more than it owned" because of "sabotage and conflict of interest" among its directors. He named no names.

The bank's fate was sealed at the court session which began Tuesday afternoon and was presided over by Wayne County Circuit Judge Benjamin Burdick.

Slay asked Burdick that the bank be thrown into involuntary receivership because it was insolvent. Burdick granted the request and appointed the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp. as receiver. The FDIC immediately sold the assets and deposit liabilities to the Bank of the Commonwealth, and the sale was approved by the court.

A hearing was set for Nov. 2 for anyone objecting to Burdick's order.

LBJ Fears Backlash in Brooklyn Plea

WILMINGTON, Del. (AP)— President Johnson, campaigning in Delaware after delivering an appeal against white backlash in New York City, said today the nation could "fall apart and fall back and fall" if too many Republicans are elected in November.

Johnson, in remarks prepared for an outdoor rally here, said the Nov. 8 balloting will be fateful.

"Vote for the minority party — and we could falter and fall back and fall. Vote to return a strong Democratic Congress."

The President pictured the Democratic party as fulfilling its campaign promises in education, aid for the aged, anti-poverty efforts, and attempts to build a lasting peace.

GE Strike Talks on Dead Center

WASHINGTON (AP)— Negotiations aimed at averting a General Electric Co. strike continue today in a pessimistic atmosphere. The talks were described by a special White House mediation panel as "dead center."

About 125,000 members of 11 unions are threatening to strike the huge company at 12:01 a.m. Monday.

The government has been making a major effort to avert the strike, claiming the firm's production is vital to the U.S. war effort in Viet Nam.

The company made a new offer Wednesday which Secretary of Commerce John T. Connor described as a "slight improvement." The unions rejected it.

Paul Jennings, president of the AFL-CIO International Union of Electrical Workers, which represents 80,000 workers in the contract dispute, called the new company offer "insignificant."

The new offer was made at the first joint negotiating session since shortly after President Johnson won a two-week strike postponement and moved the talks here from New York.

Relations between the two sides were extremely touchy. AFL-CIO President George Meany called a meeting for Friday of the chief officers of the 11 unions to map strike plans which Meany said would be supported by all 129 unions embracing 13.5 million workers in the labor federation.

Detroit Bank $1 Million in Red, Fails

DETROIT (AP)— The Public Bank of Detroit, nine years old and more than $1 million in the red, failed Wednesday in one of the biggest bank failures since the Depression.

It was immediately taken over by the Bank of the Commonwealth, which issued a statement saying all deposits were safe.

The demise of the institution, certified at a secret court session after midnight Wednesday, surprised the 3,000 stockholders, and President James H. McGuire alike.

Michigan Banking Commissioner Charles D. Slay said the bank "simply owed more than it owned" because of "sabotage and conflict of interest" among its directors. He named no names.

Witnesses Prepare for Circuit Meet

J. C. Howard, district supervisor for Jehovah's Witnesses in the South East states and a special traveling representative of the Watchtower Bible and Tract Society, Brooklyn, New York, spoke at the kingdom hall of Jehovah's Witnesses Greenwood St. on the subject, "Christian Assemblies."

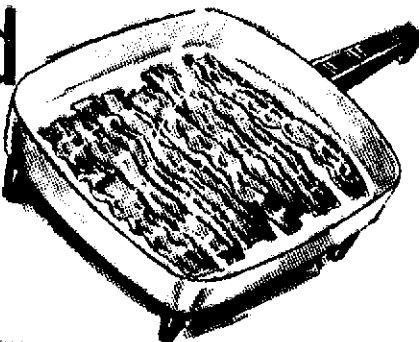

The Tuesday night meeting included a week of special activity in the congregation that will reach climax with the circuit assembly at the city park on Spruce Oct. 14-16.

Wednesday and Thursday Mr. Howard will join ministers from the local congregation in calling on the city's residents in a missionary service. Mr. Howard referred to the door-to-door visitation of Jehovah's Witnesses as "The method of teaching employed by Christ Jesus and His apostles."

A special showing of a new film that will cause all that sees it to be moved to put even greater faith and gain greater courage in their service to God. The title of the film "God Can Lie" causes the imagination to think. This film will be shown Saturday night and the public is invited free of charge. Excitement mounts as the date grows closer. Much work will go into the program and the work really started with the first of rooms for more than 600 delegates that will be assembled this occasion. Remember public is invited.

Slip Covers Brighten Room

By MARY BROOKS PICKEN
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

New slip covers can give a new look or introduce a better color into a room, and chair covering is not difficult.

Choose a pretty fabric to accent or harmonize with the other colors in the room.

To measure a chair, measure from the floor up over the back and down to the seat. Add three inches to this to provide enough for seams and hem.

Measure from the floor over one arm and down to the seat plus three inches. Multiply by two.

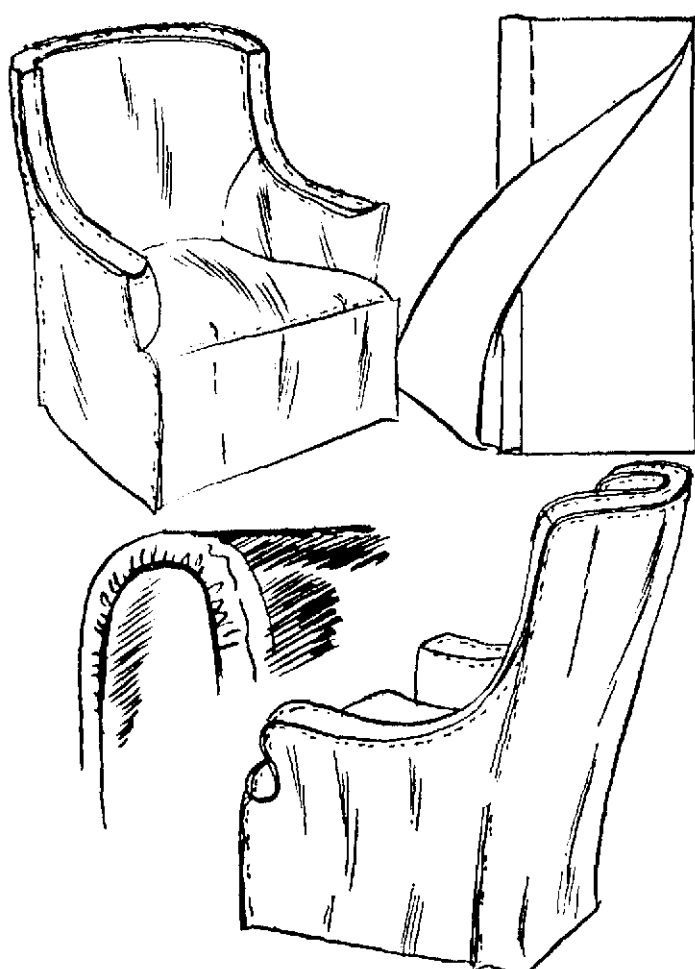

Measure from the floor up to the seat and across the seat to the back. Add three inches.

Add these to get the yardage for 36-inch fabric. If the fabric is 54 inches wide, a seam down the center back can save you the length from top of chair to floor, unless the chair is very large. A long zipper can be used at this seam to make the fitting easier. It also facilitates removal for cleaning.

Allow one-inch seams when you cut. Cut the seat first, placing the design, if there is one, correctly in the center. Then place and cut the front back, next the back, then the two sides, then the front, centering any designs.

Cut the pieces for the side arms and top across the back. If the chair back is rounded, cut two pieces to fit the ends. Gather the top as we show so as to fit the chair perfectly.

Place the pieces to position on the chair right side down. Pin, using many pins. When the cover is completely pinned and fits smoothly, check to see if you can remove it easily. You may need to use a zipper at one side of the back to allow for removal.

Stitch all seams 3/8-inch from the raw edges. Keep seam same width all the way. Trim seams neatly. Clip any edges that appear tight. Place the cover on the chair right side out.

Fit it snugly with pins as we show. This will give you a real French seam on the right side.

Turn a hem all the way around the bottom about 1/2-inch above the floor. When all seams are stitched and the hem is in place, return the cover to the chair and stretch it neatly to position. If there are any wrinkles, it is easier to press them on the chair than on the ironing board.

QUICK QUIZ

Q—What is the origin of the word "succotash"?

A—Succotash is the way the early Pilgrim settlers approximated the Narraganset Indian word "misickquatash." It originally meant "ear of corn" but in time came to mean the dish—corn and beans cooked together—that we know today.

Q—What discovery did Michael Faraday make which marked the beginning of the age of electricity?

A—In 1831 he moved a magnet through a coil of copper wire and found that an electric current was produced in the wire. This great discovery is the principle on which all electric motors and dynamos are built.

Way to Beauty

By PATRICIA KING

Beauty Editor
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

NEW YORK—(NEA)—No doubt about it. Spots are "in" this year bigger than ever.

The ones that do the most for you, however, are on coats and jackets and are affectionately called leopard, jaguar, ocelot, cheetah and the big daddy of them all, giraffe.

We'll agree with the big game hunters. These spots are just great.

Not so, however, when the spots turn out to be unwanted dandruff.

Unbelievable as it may sound, dandruff is one of the most common beauty problems in existence.

The causes for dandruff are many and include overactive glands, rich diets, fatigue and perspiration. Many women don't realize that incautious use of hair cosmetics, especially strong bleaches and lacquers, is one of the main reasons, too.

When trying to solve your dandruff problem be sure to use products that leave your hair not too dry and not too oily. Experiment until you find preparations that leave your hair shiny with a certain amount of elasticity. In other words, avoid products that would rob your hair of its natural beauty.

Not only using the proper dandruff removal products is important. Add to that immaculate cleanliness, daily brushing to stimulate the scalp and massage.

Brushes with soft natural bristles don't scratch the scalp and combs with rounded teeth ends are the gentlest.

Mildly gentle baby shampoo cleans hair effectively and doesn't upset the scalp's natural chemical balance.

Shampooing once a week if your scalp tends to be normal or dry, and twice a week if your hair and scalp are oily, is recommended.

benefit of men who service it. Write to the company making the appliance, providing both model and serial number and a description of the appliance. You should be able to buy a manual from the manufacturer.

While you may have neither the skill nor the tools to make major repairs, the manual will guide you in determining the trouble. Often the replacement of one part will get things working again. The manufacturer is the best source for parts, though most large cities have well-equipped parts stores.

While most people are conditioned to seeking parts for electrical appliances, they forget that many household items have replaceable parts. It is not likely that you will find a store that carries handles for pots and pans, cutting wheels for can openers and the like.

But again, a query to the manufacturer with a description of the part, serial and model number may bring you the part you need. An investment of a few cents or a dollar or two may save you the cost of a replacement.

He Really Supports Viet Nam Policy

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP)—Willie Hunter, a teen-ager who once walked to Washington in support of U.S. Viet Nam policy, has a new project—collecting Christmas gifts for servicemen in the Asian country.

Hunter and two other 17-year-old Negro pupils at Archer High School have formed a group called "The Commission on Viet Nam."

"We would like to make Christmas in Viet Nam more meaningful for the soldiers," Hunter said.

Fixing Minor Appliances Is Easier Than You Think

BY MR. FIX

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Our houses are filled with gadgets, electrical and otherwise, which make life easier but which have a tendency to break down.

Utensils, gadgets and appliances all break or come up with a malfunction eventually. Sometimes throwing away the item seems the easiest way out rather than going through the bother and expense of servicing and parts replacement.

Often the problem is easier to solve than you might suspect. A small part may be readily available if you know how to go about getting it.

In the case of electrical appliances there is the likelihood of getting panicky the first time the item fails to start. Granted that a major you can take care of yourself.

First, check the obvious. Is the appliance plugged in? Sound silly? Maybe, but a good many people have paid for a service call when all that was needed was inserting the plug in a wall outlet.

Does the plug make a good connection? The prongs may be loose in the outlet. Try bending them outward and plug in the appliance again.

Test Plugs

Is the outlet itself working? Plug in a light which you know works. If it doesn't light, you know that the trouble is not in the appliance.

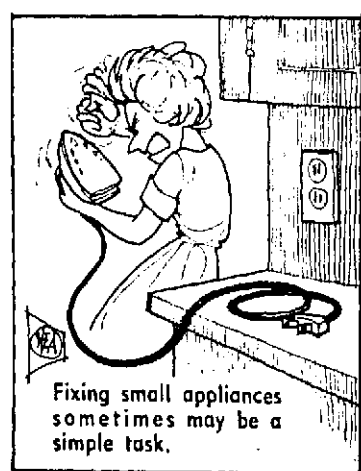

Check for a blown fuse. If, after replacing it, it blows again it could be a case of an overload on the line or a short in the appliance. Remove a few electrical items and try again. If that doesn't help, then you may need professional help.

The plug may be loose at the end of the cord, or the cord may have a short in it. If the cord is detachable, try another. If not, try flexing the cord at various points to see if it effects the operation of the appliance. If the cord is permanent, see if you can check the point at which it is connected to the appliance. You could have a loose connection there.

Keep operating instructions where you can find them. There may be something you are not doing right.

Check Manuals

Service manuals are not normally included with an appliance, but are issued for the repair may be beyond your skill, but you should still check to see if it might be something minor, something

Joan Crosby's TV Notebook

TEAMING UP ON ABC's Brigadoon will be Robert Goulet and Sally Ann Howes.

By JOAN CROSBY
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

NEW YORK—(NEA)—Sally Ann Howes is pretty sure her mother is going to be delighted when she sees her daughter in Brigadoon, the 90-minute version of the Lerner and Loewe musical set for Oct. 15 on ABC.

"I have sprung back to the old me," Sally laughed. "For while my hair was getting longer and shorter and my eyelashes were getting thicker by the day. My mother said she hoped I would soon be out of my 'Zsa Zsa Gabor' period."

"Well, I'm letting my hair grow, and it's not so blond. I'm getting back to normal. I'm not ready to give up my eyelashes yet, though. I like them."

Sally Ann Howes, a friend, irrepressible English actress who has made New York her home since she replaced Julie Andrews in "My Fair Lady," is now deserting New York for Hollywood.

"I have a little apartment in New York that I intend to keep," she said. "But unless you do just stage, there is nothing here. Last year I spent so much time flying back and forth to California that I could have bought a house with my hotel bills."

When Sally signed with Robert Goulet's Rogo Productions to appear opposite him in Brigadoon, she also signed to do a movie with Goulet.

There are two films for which Sally is being discussed, but I don't want to talk about them," she said, "because I may not get them."

Glenn Corbett thinks maybe he is the sore thumb of the gang on NBC-TV's The Law West.

Seems his role of Chance

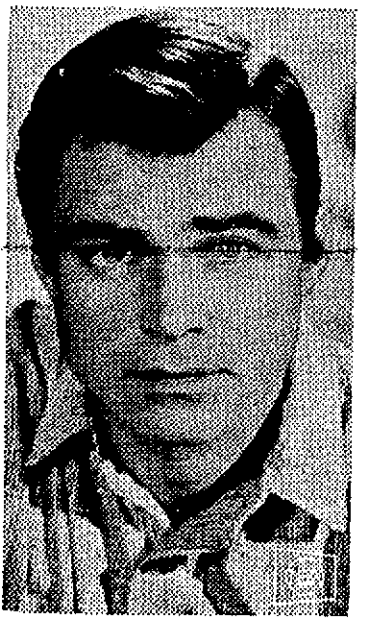

Reynolds doesn't quite have an occupation. Glenn thinks it would be more fun if, since he does have an occupation, the character he plays also had one.

The producers are working out something for him, after he complained to the front office. Corbett is not one to be bashful about things that displease him.

The Road West is the third series for Corbett (he was in It's a Man's World and Route 66), which is pretty good for someone who says he never had a burning desire to act.

"I went through the phase most kids do," he said. "I grew up wanting to be Roy Rogers and Wild Bill Elliott. Then I fell in love with Elizabeth Taylor. I read how she loved animals and I captured a chipmunk for her, but I didn't know where to mail it."

"Then I went on to school and the service. After I got out of the service, I got married and my wife supported me by teaching while I attended college. Then one day a friend asked me to join him in a drama class. I wound up in a George Bernard Shaw play. Next came 'The Caine Mutiny Court Martial,' and I wound up getting a top role.

"So I mustered up courage to tell my wife I was quitting school. We sent letters and pictures to 10 agents. Out of the 10, I talked to five and two came to see me in 'Caine Mutiny.'"

"I eventually got a screen test. Sam Fuller gave me a job in 'The Crimson Kimono.' He told me he saw the test, but he was going to take a chance, anyway."

Suit Yourself

By ROBERT COCHNAR
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

NEW YORK — (NEA) — One of the big shavers at a major razor company said the other day that "a surprisingly large number of men don't know how to shave properly."

I discounted this statement until, the next day, I slashed my face with a new blade and it took 30 minutes for the blood to stop.

So, with a bandage masking the gash, I called on Meyer Schnitzler, vice president in charge of research for the Gillette Safety Razor Company, who hasn't nicked himself in a long time.

"A lot of men dislike shaving every morning simply because they don't know how," he says, "while others find the ritual a refreshing, satisfying step in personal grooming."

One way to keep your face from looking like raw hamburger every morning is, of course, to switch to an electric razor. This daily shaver has found that the electric is tidy, quick, painless and a boon to travelers, all right, but the finished face doesn't seem to be as smooth as that produced by a blade.

Schnitzler points out that there are three keys to getting a shave that's comfortable, long-lasting and offers minimal abrasion.

• Proper beard preparation. This means washing the face, rinsing it and applying shave cream. These steps, which should take about two minutes, assure that the whiskers have been fully softened for maximum shaving ease and effectiveness.

• Proper razor adjustment. Shavers found long ago that the best razor is one that exerts minimum pressure and acts with minimum disturbance on the skin. As you shave use light, gentle strokes. Save the chin and upper lip for last because that's where the coarsest whiskers grow. Being in contact with water longer means they will be easier to slice off.

• Clean cutting edge. Make sure your blade is sharp and clean. An inferior or dull, overused blade cannot cut whiskers cleanly and evenly. The new stainless steel blades are clearly superior to the old type.

In choosing a shave cream, men with oily skins should select a lather-type and use a brush or aerosol foam. Men with dry skins should use a brushless cream which does not rob the skin of oils.

New products in the razor industry have added to the speed and efficiency of shaving. One is Gillette's Techmatic razor. The shaving edge is a continuous band of coated stainless steel, three-sixteenths of an inch wide. The band is coiled within a replaceable cartridge and is advanced to new positions by a lever on the razor.

Another new approach to shaving is an interesting razor called the Staley Safety Razor. It features a wind-up spring in the handle which vibrates the blade and head at 6,000 vibrations per minute. The razor presumably combines the oscillating features of an electric razor with the smooth shaving qualities of a safety razor.

6 Foot Pythons Again Missing

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — A snake thief has struck again, taking two six-foot pythons owned by Thomas Taylor from a shed behind his home in Phoenix, Ariz.

Earlier Tuesday, a seven-foot boa constrictor reported missing July 13 by Thomas Clendenin was dumped from a moving car in front of Clendenin's home.

Police said the big boa, which Clendenin had taken home from his snake farm north of Phoenix, "seemed angry" but was apparently unharmed.
